MANILA, June 11, 8:10 p. m .- The Filipine occupation of the province of Cavite has been broken and, as a result of the present movement, the American's now control the important coast towns of Paranaque and Las Pinas, while a long line of insurgent trenches facing our south line has

The insurgents have again proved their facility as dodgers, between 3,000 and 4,000 warriors, who seemed destined to be captured, having disappeared, the majority sliding away under cover of the night, after fighting the Americans all day. Some others came to meet our troops, with protestations of friendship.

The rebel sharpshooters kept in hiding until the American lines had passed and then attempted to pot stragglers from the trees. Thanks to their poor marksmanship, this was without result. Trusted to Luck for Food.

The whole country proved to be a succession of small hills, with boggy ground between the high, thick grass, and bushes, in the hellows, which greatly added to the difficulty of the advance, but gave shelter that saved many from the enemy's bullets. Our men threw away their blankets, coats and even haversacks, stripping to the waist and trusting to luck for food. Water could not be obtained and there was much discomfort after the canteens were emptied.

At the outset the Colorados, the Ninth infantry and the Twenty-first infantry forced the line of insurgent trenches, wheeled to the left and drove the enemy toward the lake. During this maneuver the Filipinos in concealed trenches on the right opened an entilading fire, but the partly owing to the high grass, had few hit.

The Ninth infantry crept around to the right, flanking the trenches, driving out the Filipinos and killing many of them. .The Colorado regiment advanced to the lake. Two companies encountered trenches on top of a knoll, where the Filipinos stood waist high above a trench, pouring a volley upon the advancing Americans. The Colorado troops charged and drove them Lieutenant Colonel Moses being wounded in the arm as he jumped into the trench.

In the meantime General Wheaton's column advanced one and a half miles toward Paranaque, where the Americans found a strong trench on a ridge, out of which they drove the Filiplios by hard tighting.

The enemy tried to flank the dismounted troops of the Fourth cavalry, accompanying Major General Lawton, and at the same time they made their only advance, throwing a skirmish line to flank the Fourth infantry. But they were easily repulsed, the American artillery coming to the crest of the hill and shelling them.

Lawton Was a Shining Mark. About 3 o'clock this afternoon General

Wheaton's brigade, headed by General Lawton, who, in his white clothing and helmet, on a big, black horse, was a shining mark for the enemy's shorpshooters, circled to the south of Las Pinas, encountering a large force of Filipinos in the shelter of the trees. General Lawton had a narrow escape. In the first volley of the enemy the horses of three of his staff officers were shot from under them. The Colorado regiment bore the brunt of this attack and dispersed the Filipinos. Hardly had they finished off that lot when a large force appeared in the rear. which the Ninth infantry and a part of the Colorado regiment drove away. By this time nearly the whole division was The Americans camped for the night

At 6 o'clock this morning General Wheaton advanced upon Les Pinas with a troop of cavalry, the Twenty-first infantry, the Colorado regiment, part of the Ninth infantry and two mountain guns, crossing two streams and entering the town with-

He then advanced upon Paranaque.

The women and children and, for that matter, many men remained in the towns.
No houses were destroyed, though many were torn by the shells from the warships. Everywehere the Americans found white flags flying.

So far as can yet be ascertained, the Filipine loss is about fifty killed, about 250 wounded and twenty taken prisoner.

The whole country is a network of trenches and the enemy scurried from shelter to shelter.

To-day long trains of commissary wagons are carrying provisions to the United States troops along the road which only yesterday was the stronghold of the enemy, and the natives who yesterday were probably carrying guns are to-day doffing their hats and groveling before the Americans with effusive greetings of welcome. The Colorado regiment returned to barracks in Manila to-night. As the ragged and dirty men marched past the Luneta, the fashionable gathering place for Manilans, they were heartly cheered.

Major General Olis, of the military movement yesterday to the south of Manila for the purpose of clearing out the rebels in that section. It shows that the movement was a great success and that the enemy's loss was considerably greater than stated in the press dispatches. General Olis' cablegram is as follows:

"Manila, June II, 1839.—Terrific heat yesterday did not permit troops to reach positions at hours designated and enabled majority of insurgents to escape in scattered organizations south and westward, which they effected during the evening and night. The movement was a great success, however. The enemy was disorganized and routed, suffering heavy loss. The troops rested to-day at Las Pinas and Paranque. The navy did excellent execution along the shore of the bay, but many insurgent detachments retired in that direction and were protected by the presence of women and children, whom they drove along with them. Our loss was four killed and some thirty wounded. Report of casualties later. A conservative estimate of enemy's loss is about 400.—Otis."

It was slightly less than thirty feet in length and belonged to the largest and most powerful type of sea lizards which ravaged the great American Mediterranean sea in the chalk period. The skull is four feet long, the fore paddle three feet long and the hind paddle three and a half. It is estimated that the girth of the body, behind the fore paddles, was nine feet. The jaws are armed with powerful teeth. The back is eight feet long, and the tail, iffteen feet in length, was evidently the great propeller of the body.

Meers Fabricated Telegrams From Santiago de Cuba in Order to Create Friction.

HAVANA, June 11.—Some weeks ago dis-patches were published in the local papers purporting to come from Santiago de Cuba and announcing that the Cubans there had absolutely refused to accept the American gratuity. These messages were really fab-ricated by officers of the late Cuban army in this city, two nights before they appeared, in the cafe of the hotel Inglaterra. The consul of a foreign power, who understands Spanish perfectly, sat at a table adjoining the one used by the Cuban offi-cers in question, and heard every word of cers in question, and heard every word of the messages as innally agreed upon, including the corrections in the original draft and the details of the plan for forwarding the matter to Santiago and having it telegraphed from that point to Havana, as if sent from a Cuban official. The plan was executed according to the programme. The consul, who overheard the plot, is a man of undoubted veracity. company and the strikers are waiting expectantly for 7 o'clock to-morrow morning, for then there is likely to be serious trouble. True to its promise of last night, the company made no attempt to move cars to-day. There was no activity about the barns or terminals and the big crowdent of strikers and idlers that assembled saw nothing to excite them.

A number of motormen imported by the company from other cities were taken to the Lakeview terminus of the road to-day, and all that were not captured by the strikers were housed there for the night. If the strikers do not return to work in the morning, as notified to do by the company, their places will be filled as far aspossible by new men, and an attempt made to move cars. This the strikers will not, and while they have been very quiet to-day, there is apparently a grim determination on their part to thwart the efforts of the company to move cars.

There has been some talk of a sympatetic strike on the part of the employees of the Little Consolidated Company, but the leaders of the strike say they do not desire anything of the kind. On the other lines, for it would lose them the sympathy of the people, who have thus far put up with inconvenience and annoyance good naturedly. There has been some talk of a sympathetic strike on the part of the employes of the Little Consolidated Company, but the leaders of the strike say they do not desire anything of the kind. There is a possibility that the street rallway men's strike may be settled by arbitration. President Little, Member Owen and Secretary Bishop, of the state board of arbitration, arrived in the city this evening, coming at the request of President Everett, of the Big Consolidated Company. Their arrival was a surprise to the strikers, coming at the request of President Everett, of the Big Consolidated Company. Their arrival was a surprise to the strikers, coming at the request of President Everett, of the Big Consolidated Company. Their arrival was a surprise to the strikers, coming and they with President Everett are now in conference with the board at the Forest City house. The conference is secret, of course, and nothing can be learned of the nature of the discussion. It now seems likely that the meeting may continue the greater part of the night.

The state board has no authority to compel the submission of labor troubles to arbitration, tender their good offices and proceed to reach an agreement.

At half past 12 o'clock a representative of the strikers left the conference and hurried to the headquartres of the union. He said: "There must be recognition of the union or nothing. We will accept nothing else, nor will we make any other terms, no matter who may prepare them or who the arbitrators may be. Not a wheel will turn on the Big Consolidated lines tomorrow unless the union is recognized."

It now transpires that the representatives of the strikers and those of the company are in separate rooms. They have not yet come together. The members of the arbitration board to from one room to the other in the attempt to bring about an agreement will be reached, if at all, before morning.

STRIKE AT BUFFALO.

Contractors and Men Are Not Able to Compromise and a Tie-Up Is

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 11.-The strike of the freight handlers at the Erie docks for an advance of 1 cent an hour in wages was considered at a meeting of the Freight Handlers' union this afternoon and a sympathetic strike of the inside workers, sympathetic strike of the inside workers, or housemen, in all of the freight houses was ordered. None of these men will report for duty in the morning. About 1,000 men have been called out, and this will virtually throw twice as many more out of work, as the outside workers will refuse to carry freight into the houses, and should non-union men be employed for inside work the outside men will quit.

From present appearances a general tieup as far as freight boats are concerned is certain for the time being. The railroad companies and contractors say they will not grant the demands of the men, and the latter are equally determined not to return to work without the advance.

One of the party, Harry Randall, deliberately pointed his gun at the young couple and fired. The bride's face and breast was filled with buckshot. She fell fatally injured shot through the lungs, and died on Hannas Are Guests of Hobarts.

NEW YORK, June 11.—United States Senator and Mrs. Mark Hanna, of Ohio, are the guests of Vice President and Mrs. Garret A. Hobart at Hollywood, N. J., having arrived there to-day. When seen regarding his visit to the vice president, Senator Hanna said that his visit had no political significance whatever. "I left politics behind," he said, "and merely called to pay my respects to Mr. Hobart before I sail for Europe on Wednesday."

Vice President Hobart looks better than he did when he first reached New Jersey.
